

Air-1 is a great station that not only I listen to, but my husband and children as well. It has been a great alternative to secular radio stations that play music my children should not be subjected to as well as myself. I have seen the positive effects on, not only myself, but my children as well. They are not listening to songs about sex and drugs, but to music that is positive and refreshing. Being a parent, if Air-1 was taken off the air, I would be thoroughly disappointed for the simple fact that my children and myself would be exposed to unnecessary and discouraging music that has no relevance to our lives and the way we lead them, or the music we would want our children listening to. The secular music stations are airing music that I do not feel would be a good influence on my children, or myself for that matter, specifically because there are no morals or values expressed in that type of music forum. Furthermore, I have turned several friends and family members onto Air-1 and should they not be on the air to minister and help others, then it would be a "hazard" to the public and to those that need the encouragement and positivity that Air-1 provides. This is the most solid and positive radio station I have ever listened to and do not plan to listen to another station unless it is Air-1.
